

Religion and worldviews at Holdbrook

Intent

Holdbrook's religion and worldviews curriculum aims to develop deep thinkers who are open-minded about religion and worldviews. Our R&W curriculum is relevant to pupils, reflecting and preparing them for life in modern Britain. Through the year, the children will secure a deep understanding of concepts in order to be able to make connections, ask and respond to challenging questions, learn to respect and appreciate worldviews that are different to their own and consider their personal preconceptions, responses and views. Children will build their conceptual knowledge through studying religions and worldviews locally, nationally and globally in our progressive curriculum, enabling them to make links and connections between worldviews, develop disciplinary skills and build on their understanding of their positionality in relation to their learning. By revisiting key 'big questions' and building on prior knowledge, pupils will learn about how religion and worldviews are lived experiences across the world, consider the impact of worldviews on society and have opportunities to consider their personal worldviews. Holdbrook's R&W scheme of work enables pupils to meet the government guidance, which states that RE must reflect that 'the religious traditions in Great Britain are, in the main, Christian while taking account of the teaching and practices of the other principal religions represented in Great Britain'. Our planning has been designed to fulfill the aims of A Curriculum framework for Religious Education in England.

Implementation

Reflecting on the findings of the Ofsted Research review series: religious education (May 2021), our planning has the following three strands running through it:

- ✓ Substantive knowledge (conceptual and worldviews related).
- ✓ Disciplinary knowledge.
- ✓ Personal knowledge.

These strands are interwoven across all units to create lessons that build children's conceptual knowledge and understanding of religion and worldviews (substantive knowledge) and use a range of disciplinary lenses (ways of knowing). Children will also be equipped to explore and express their preconceptions, personal worldviews and positionality (personal knowledge) through varied and engaging learning experiences. The Holdbrook Religion and worldviews planning follows the spiral curriculum model, where units and lessons are carefully sequenced so that previous conceptual knowledge is returned to and built upon. Children progress by developing and deepening their knowledge and understanding of substantive and disciplinary concepts by experiencing them in a range of contexts. This can be seen in the Religion and worldviews: Progression of knowledge and skills.

Children develop their awareness of religion and worldviews in Key stage 1, focusing on conceptual knowledge through the study of a limited range of religions and worldviews represented in the UK, including Christianity. This will support children in building knowledge they can refer to throughout their learning in Key stage 2 while encountering a greater range of

Impact

The impact of Holdbrook's Religion and worldviews curriculum can be constantly monitored through both formative and summative assessment opportunities. Each lesson includes guidance to support teachers in assessing pupils against the learning objectives. Furthermore, each unit has a unit quiz and a knowledge catcher, which can be used at the end of the unit to provide a summative assessment. After the implementation of the Holdbrook's Religion and worldviews curriculum, pupils will be equipped with a range of disciplinary skills and knowledge to enable them to succeed in their secondary education. They will be prepared for life in modern Britain, being able to interact with others from different religious and non-religious viewpoints in a respectful, knowledgeable and open-minded way. They will be curious learners who ask questions and make connections, confident to explore their personal worldview and have the skills to appreciate, evaluate and respond to religious, philosophical and ethical questions. The expected impact of following the Holdbrook's Religion and worldviews scheme of work is that children will:

- Meet the relevant Early learning goals at the end of EYFS (Reception) and the End of Key stage 1 and Key stage 2 requirements from the Curriculum framework for Religious Education for England.
- Know and understand religious concepts relating to beliefs, practices, community and belonging, and wisdom and guidance.

religions and worldviews and considering further the diverse nature of religious and non-religious lived experience. Each unit includes overarching 'big questions' which will be revisited throughout key stage 1, lower key stage 2 and upper key Stage 2, allowing children to apply the breadth and depth of their learning across various concepts. These 'big questions' are:

Why are we here?

Why do worldviews change?

What is religion?

How can worldviews be expressed?

How do worldviews affect our daily lives?

How can we live together in harmony if we have different worldviews?

A more specific, focused enquiry question frames the learning across each unit. Both the 'big questions' and the focused enquiry question will allow children to explore the content they are studying, make comparisons and links within and across religions and worldviews, and explore their personal views. Lessons are designed to be varied, engaging and hands-on, allowing children to learn and record their thoughts, answers and ideas in various ways. In each lesson, children will participate in activities involving disciplinary and substantive concepts, developing their knowledge and understanding of diverse religions and worldviews. Guidance for adapting the learning is available for every lesson to ensure that all pupils can access lessons, and opportunities to stretch pupils' learning are available when required. Knowledge organisers support pupils in developing conceptual knowledge and

- Develop an understanding of the influence of organised and personal worldviews on individuals, communities, countries and globally.
- Understand some of the ways religions and worldviews are studied (disciplinary knowledge).
- Develop understanding of their relationship with the content studied, being able to talk about their assumptions and preconceptions (personal knowledge).
- Build secure vocabulary which allows them to talk confidently and fluently about their learning.
- Answer questions about worldviews through an enquiry-based approach including investigating, interpreting, evaluating, applying and expressing.
- Talk about the similarities and differences between their own and others' beliefs with respect and open mindedness.
- Understand the lived experiences of religious and non-religious worldviews to be diverse within and between people and communities.
- Develop an understanding of the ways in which personal and organised worldviews may develop and change across time and place.

schemata by summarising the key concepts covered in a unit and linking these to examples covered. Strong subject knowledge is vital for staff to deliver a highly-effective and robust R&W curriculum. Each unit of lessons will focus on the key subject knowledge needed to deliver the curriculum, making links with prior learning and identifying possible misconceptions. The Holdbrook R&W curriculum has been created with the understanding that some teachers do not feel confident delivering the R&W curriculum, and every effort has been made to ensure that they feel supported to deliver lessons of high quality with confidence. The nature of R&W means that controversial and sensitive issues will be taught and discussed in some units or may come up when not directly part of a planned lesson. Throughout the units, children will learn skills to have respectful discussions and respond sensitively to one another. Teacher CPD resources will include guidance on how to facilitate such discussions and how to answer and respond to controversial or sensitive questions and viewpoints.

The Holdbrook Primary Religion and worldviews curriculum emphasises the importance of diverse representations within and across religions and worldviews, focusing on real people's lived experiences of their beliefs.

Assessment

Formative and summative assessments demonstrate how well the progression of skills and knowledge have met outcomes. These are completed termly, by teachers, to assess pupils against the learning objectives and relevant religious and worldview skills.

Monitoring

- To oversee, with support from the leadership team, the curriculum content and progression within RE.
- To support colleagues with the planning, implementation and assessment of R&W
- To take responsibility for the purchase and deployment of central resources.
- To monitor and evaluate the progress in history and take action to drive improvement in history.
- To ensure a range of enrichment opportunities are provided to inspire children's learning. E.g. Trips, workshops, after school clubs, themed weeks, special projects etc.
- To liaise with appropriate bodies such as: local schools, governors, the local authority with matters to do with R&W

Marking & Feedback

At Holdbrook Primary School we believe that marking should provide constructive feedback to every child. Marking and feedback should focus on successes and targets for improvement linked to the learning objectives or success criteria. This should enable children to become reflective learners and help them close the gap between their current and desired performance.

- Correct work is marked in pink and staff provide next steps in green pen.
- Key vocabulary should be highlighted and spelling errors should be identified.PW
- All self-assessment should be completed weekly and written neatly underneath the work using a purple pen.
- Work will show whether the work has been completed in pairs (PW), independent (I) and classwork (CW).

EYFS

Within in EYFS, the lessons allow pupils to work towards targeted 'Understanding the world' Development matters statements and Early learning goals, while covering foundational knowledge that will support them in their further Religion and worldviews learning in Key stage 1. In EYFS, children begin to talk about the beliefs of their immediate family and community, recognising that people have different beliefs and celebrate special times in different ways. They listen to religious and modern day stories and compare and contrast characters, including figures from the past.

The most relevant statements for Religion and worldviews are taken from the following Areas of Learning:

Three and Four-Year-Olds Understanding the World

Continue developing positive attitudes about the differences between people.

Reception Understanding the World

- Recognise that people have different beliefs and celebrate special times in different ways.
- Children talk about similarities and differences between themselves and others, among families, communities and traditions.
- Understand that some places are special to members of their community.
- Know some similarities and differences between different religious and cultural communities in this country, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class.

ELG Understanding the World- People, culture and community

- Know some similarities and differences between different religious and cultural communities in this country, drawing on their experiences and what has been read in class.
- Explain some similarities and differences between life in this country and life in other countries, drawing on knowledge from stories, non-fiction texts and (when appropriate) maps.
